

Fighting Against Forced Labour and Child Labour in Supply Chains

Introduction

Eclipse Stores Inc. is committed to doing our part to ensure international human rights and labour standards are observed within our supply chain. We recognize that our customers and business partners genuinely care about how we obtain and produce the goods we sell. We are continuously assessing our supply chain to ensure we only do business with suppliers who share this commitment and will seek supply chain options that contribute to and demand human rights worldwide.

Our Supply Chain

Eclipse works with suppliers in Canada, USA, China, Vietnam, India, & Cambodia. Utilizing the Open Supply Hub website allows us to research suppliers in any region of the world. We are continuously monitoring our business partners in our supply chain network with the goal of confirming supplier labour practices are aligned with globally accepted standards.

Policies and Commitments

We are committed to ethical business practices. We support international human and labour rights efforts and standards such as the following:

Universal Declaration of Human Rights

United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights

International Labor Organization

Risks

We do not manufacture our own products. For this reason, the highest risk for abuse of human rights exists within our supply chain. We regularly review known risks that exist in certain geographical regions of the world. We also continuously monitor political contexts that could influence the business and human rights practices in the regions where our suppliers are located.

Responsibility and Risk Mitigation

We take great care to develop open honest relationships with our suppliers. We have been doing business with many of our suppliers for a decade or more. Strong long-standing relationships better enable us to continuously assess the risk of poor practices by our suppliers that we do not agree with. Based on this ongoing risk assessment we may decide to not deal with specific suppliers or specific countries.
