3 Our supply chain risk profile

- 3.1 Within our operations, we have assessed our risk profile based on sector and industry risks as low. All of our workers are employed in United States and Canada, where we have fair and responsible employment practices in place to protect and promote workers' rights.
- 3.2 That said, we recognize that risks of modern slavery may be present in our supply chain in areas such as Asia and the Pacific region, specifically China where certain of our raw materials and/ or products are manufactured. We are also aware of parts of supply chain where outsourced/ contracted/ subcontracted labor is used. Since a majority of such workers are not employed directly by FUJIFILM Group or FUJIFILM Global, we have less control and visibility over their working conditions and employment terms and FUJIFILM Global continues to tailor risk management actions to address those risks. Namely, FUJIFILM Global continues its efforts to classify supplier risks and map key parts of our supply chain to identify and improve our understanding of modern slavery risks.

4 Actions taken to combat slavery risks

- 4.1 Building on the policies and procedures we currently have in place, FUJIFILM Global, including FUJIFILM Group, has developed processes and implemented strategies in order to:

6 Due diligence processes

- 6.1 FUJIFILM Group will not tolerate any form of modern slavery and human trafficking within its supply chain. In order to identify and manage risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our own business, we carry out background checks and periodically reassess our employment practices to ensure we meet or surpass employment standards in all jurisdictions in which we operate.

- 7.2 FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation, Fujifilm Group’s ultimate parent company, continues to develop its Sustainable Procurement Promotion Program (“the “SPP Program”) that covers:
- (a) Dissemination of the FUJIFILM Global’s Approach to CSR. This includes FUJIFILM Global’s Sustainable Procurement Guidelines for Suppliers (“Supplier Guidelines”) which cover items listed in the FUJIFILM Global Charter for Corporate Behavior, FUJIFILM Global Code of Conduct and FUJIFILM Global Human Rights Statement that FUJIFILM Global companies request their suppliers to follow);
  - (b) Supplier Assessments,
  - (c) Request/support for supplier’s improvement activities; and
  - (d) Improvement activities by suppliers.
- 7.3 The program is run cyclically to check on suppliers to ensure improvements have been made. This SPP Program has been adopted by FUJIFILM Global companies in Japan and certain FUJIFILM Global companies in other parts of Asia, in Europe and in North America. The SPP will continue to be introduced at other FUJIFILM Global companies around the world.
- 7.4 FUJIFILM Group companies that have put in place the SPP Program supply the HR Statement to business partners associated with the provision of any products and/or services and such partners are also expected to comply with this HR Statement. This is driven by a belief that respecting the human rights of workers in the supply chain increases productivity and moral action, which in turn leads to the provision of better products and services, as well as encouraging innovation.

8 Training

- 8.1 To ensure an understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains and our business, we provide CSR training to our procurement staff. In July 2024, briefings on the Japan Center for Engagement and Remedy on Business and Human Rights were held for the procurement departments of subsidiaries in Japan that purchase direct materials. In addition,

FUJIFILM Group staff are trained on the Employee Code of Conduct which includes certain provisions addressing respect for human rights.

9 Remediation measures

Allegations of forced labor or child labor in our business and supply chains will be investigated appropriately and on a timely basis. During the reporting period, we have not discovered any confirmed instances of forced labor or child labor in our business or supply chain.

10 Remediation measures relating to loss of income to vulnerable persons

- 10.1 The Fujifilm Group recognizes that remediation measures potentially have the unintended consequence of inflicting loss of income on vulnerable groups, such as migrant laborers, unskilled laborers, indigenous people, women or children. During the reporting period, we have not discovered any confirmed instances of forced labor or child labor in our business or supply chain. To our knowledge, we have not taken any remediation measures that would have led to loss of income to the most vulnerable families.

11 Effectiveness in combatting modern slavery risks

- 11.1 In order to assess the effectiveness of its actions, each year, FUJIFILM Global which FUJIFILM Group belongs to, evaluates the following key performance indicators (KPIs):
- Training: FUJIFILM Global Charter for Corporate Behaviour and the FUJIFILM Global Code of Conduct annual training to FUJIFILM Global employees. The training covers a variety of ethical business principles including the prevention of slavery and human trafficking in the activities of such companies. Human Rights specific training was provided to approximately 46,000 employees in Japan and China during the reporting period.
  - Supplier Vetting/Inspections: Suppliers determined by FUJIFILM Global to be critical suppliers are requested annually to complete a checklist. In addition, some onsite risk assessments are conducted. In 2024, self-check surveys were conducted for over 900 suppliers and on-site assessments were conducted for more than 42 suppliers. An external risk screening tool is also utilized with over 3,000 tier 1 suppliers, mainly from China and the Asia-Pacific region being screening and monitored.
  - Whistleblowing: FUJIFILM Global has a whistleblowing system that is monitored. In June 2024, FUJIFILM Holdings became a member of the Japan Center for Engagement and Remedy on Business and Human Rights (JaCER), a general incorporated association established to support and promote grievance resolution mechanisms, with a particular focus on addressing human rights issues in supply chains.
