Hammond Policies

We operate a number of internal policies to ensure that we are conducting business in an ethical and transparent manner. These include:

1. Anti-slavery policy. This policy sets out the organisation's stance on modern slavery and explains how employees can identify any instances of this and where they can go for help.
2. Recruitment policy. We operate a robust recruitment policy, including conducting eligibility to work checks for all employees to safeguard against human trafficking or individuals being forced to work against their will.
3. In all regions where we operate our own facilities we comply with local laws regarding hours of work and wages.

4. Whistleblowing policy. We operate a whistleblowing policy so that all employees know that they can raise concerns about how colleagues are being treated, or practices within our business or supply chain, without fear of reprisals.
5. Code of business conduct. This code explains the manner in which we behave as an organisation and how we expect our employees and suppliers to act.

Our Policy Towards Suppliers

Hammond Manufacturing operates a supplier policy and maintains a preferred supplier list. We conduct due diligence on all suppliers before allowing them to become a preferred supplier. This due diligence includes an online search to ensure that particular organisation has never been convicted of offenses relating to modern slavery and for most this includes on site audits which include a review of working conditions. Our anti-slavery policy forms part of our contract with all suppliers and they are required to confirm that no part of their business operations contradicts this policy. We operate on a principle of “Know Your Supplier” and rely on regular contact, including factory visits, to ensure that our supply chain meets our standards. In addition to the above, as part of our contract with suppliers, we require that they confirm to us that:

1. They have taken steps to eradicate modern slavery within their business
2. They hold their own suppliers to account over modern slavery
3. They pay their employees any prevailing minimum wage applicable within their country of operations
4. We may terminate the contract at any time should any instances of modern slavery come to light

Our High Risk Areas

We have taken a special interest in suppliers in China and India. For Chinese suppliers the current focus is on any activities in the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region to ensure compliance not only with Bill S-211 but also the UK Modern Slavery act and US House Resolution 6256 which covers goods produced with forced labour. Our suppliers are typically in the Dongguan and Ningbo areas, and their supply chain is in the local area as well. Our due diligence has not shown any links to the Xinjiang area. Our on-site visits have not led to any suspicions of issues that would violate our Code of Conduct.

Training

We regularly conduct training for our procurement / buying teams so that they understand the signs of modern slavery and what to do if they suspect that it is taking place within our supply chain. This training is also part of our onboarding process for new staff in these roles. Training covers the Canadian, UK, and US legislation on this issue, along with best practices on the subject.

Our performance indicators

We will know the effectiveness of the steps that we are taking to ensure that slavery and/or human trafficking is not taking place within our business or supply chain if:

- No reports are received from employees, the public, or law enforcement agencies to indicate that modern slavery practices have been identified.
