Western Harvest Bean ULC: Bill S-211 Report

Western Harvest Bean ULC ("WHB") is a Canadian dry edible bean trading company. We are a privately owned company and are the sole subsidiary of Cooperative Elevator Co. WHB and parent employ over 180 employees and had consolidated revenues of over $400 million in its 2026 fiscal year.

WHB and the entities listed in this report (together, the "Company") are committed to conducting business in adherence with the highest standards of integrity, responsibility and ethical behaviour. The Company's commitment to protecting human rights and responsible labor practices is founded on its strong belief in doing the right thing. The manner in which its operations and global supply chain partners uphold these commitments to human rights, including preventing forced labor and child labor, is critical to the Company's long-term business success.

The Company sources a variety of dry edible beans for distribution that are generally available from a variety of suppliers and brokers. The Company's most sourced dry edible beans are black beans and pinto beans. For further information on the Company's Corporate Structure and a Description of the Business, please see the company's website (www.westernharvestbean.com).

Addressing Child Labor and Forced Labor

The Company is committed to engaging in employment practices that meet all ethical and legal standards, including laws and regulations related to forced and child labor, in the markets in which it operates. Similar to its internal commitment to preventing child labor and forced labor, the Company expects its suppliers to share and uphold these same commitments across their business operations as well. Further, the Company expects its suppliers to cascade these expectations through their supply chains – including to raw material, component, or ingredient suppliers.

Forced Labor

All workers across the Company's operations and its suppliers' operations, must work under voluntary conditions. The Company and its suppliers will not use any form of forced or involuntary labor, including prison labor, indentured labor, bonded labor, military labor, slave labor or any form of human trafficking.

Child Labor

The use of child labor that contravenes local labor laws within the Company's operations or by the Company's suppliers is strictly prohibited. Management is responsible for ensuring that child labor does not occur at any of the Company's locations and managing the risk of child labor in the Company's supply chain relationships.

Governance, Accountability and Remediation

The Company has internal policies including its Supplier Code of Conduct and Code of Business Conduct that further reinforce and clarify its commitments to responsible labor practices, including preventing the use of forced labor and child labor. The Company's governance structure ensures that its policies related to forced and child labor are effective.

The Company's Operations

The Company's executives and management teams are required to review and sign-off on the Company's Code of Business Conduct annually, and to ensure it is upheld with all employees in each of the Company's operating facilities. Violations of the Company's policies will result in the Company taking effective remedial actions, such as disciplinary actions up to and including termination.

The Company assesses risks of forced labor or child labor across its supply chain, and determines priorities based on areas of highest risk. Since labor practices (including forced and child labor) can vary significantly by geographic location, industry and business activity, the Company continually assesses and monitors its own operations and our supply chain partners to mitigate and manage these risks.

The Company's Suppliers

Under the Company's Supplier Code of Conduct, the Company reserves the right to monitor and verify compliance. This may include information requests to validate conformance and/or on-site visits or inspections. Suppliers must report any known or suspected breaches of the Supplier Code of Conduct and may require corrective action(s) to ensure compliance. Where possible, the Company will work with suppliers in violation of the Supplier Code of Conduct to develop and implement a plan for remediation. However, if a supplier is either unwilling or fails to make necessary changes to their practices, the Company may cease its relationship with that supplier.

Training and Awareness Building

The Company also continues to explore traceability systems to monitor its supply chains. The Company's Supplier Code of Conduct encourages increased transparency and values alignment with the Company's suppliers, inclusive of standards relating to forced and child labor. The Supplier Code of Conduct establishes clear protocols for cases of non-compliance and demonstrates the Company's commitment to collaborating with its suppliers on conflict resolution through corrective actions and/or potential remediation measures. The Supplier Code of Conduct has been implemented by the Company and its procurement teams are in the process of tracking its adoption rate with their supply chain partners.

Summary

The Company remains committed to preventing child labor and forced labor within the Company's operations and by its suppliers. The Company is committed to engaging with its employees, suppliers and stakeholders on these concerns and continues to fortify its approach to reducing the risks associated with forced or child labor in the Company's business and supply chains, while ensuring compliance with applicable labor laws.
